

Amy Logan Holmes is responsible for Fengate's brand, marketing and communications. She leads the firm's marketing and communications team, and works closely with our executive team, our investors, project partners, investor relations, and three business groups — infrastructure, private equity and real estate — to ensure comprehensive and proactive marketing, communications and business development strategies and programs.

Amy brings more than 18 years of experience in marketing, corporate communications, client relations, business development, media relations and brand management. Prior to joining Fengate, Amy was the communications lead in Canada for Dentons, working on both the firm's marketing and business development leadership team and global communications team. She earned her bachelor's degree in political science from McGill University.

Amy Logan Holmes

Senior Vice President, Marketing and Communications